

The screenshot I took with Chrome did not show the full page. The right part of the page was cut off on the index and contact page. The Opera and Firefox browser did not have that issue and showed the full webpage for both documents. The gray background I used for the main HTML tag looks a bit brighter on Opera and FireFox than on Chrome. Fonts seem the same for all browsers.